

ACTEON®, a world leader in small equipment and imaging products for dentists, will be joining the Viva Learning™ network and hiring Learn HealthSci to create the ACTEON Viva Learning™ dental continuing education website.

The new website will serve as a hub for ACTEON's continuing education initiatives that will include interactive, live CE webinars, CE webinar archives, an online resource library and a variety of product training videos. Interactive and self-study continuing education credit will be available.

“ACTEON offers innovative dental technologies to the profession that require support through practical continuing education that focuses on clinical applications,” says Wyatt Wilson, Vice President and COO of ACTEON North America. “Now, with our new Viva Learning™ website and extended reach to thousands of Viva users, we can accomplish our educational goals in a cost-effective and efficient way,” says Wilson. “We are very excited to have ACTEON join the Viva Learning™ network and utilize the Viva platform for online continuing education,” says Philip Klein, CEO of Learn HealthSci Inc. “ACTEON products are designed for specific and precise dental procedures that require ongoing end-user education—and Viva Learning™ offers all the tools and services that can meet that challenge,” says Klein.

The Viva Learning™ package includes all phases of professional online education including content and website management, live online support, speaker training as well as a comprehensive learning management system. Live webinars allow online attendees to interact with the speaker through polling and Q&A. Presentations are highly interactive and include voice-over, slides and streaming video. Viva Learning™ continues to gain popularity among dental professionals worldwide, with over 25,000 Viva Learning™ student accounts.

About Learn HealthSci Inc.

Learn HealthSci Inc. is a privately held company based in San Diego, CA, specializing in web-based multimedia training and software development in the health care sector. Learn HealthSci provides cost-effective e-learning solutions to medium and large size companies, many of which are among the Fortune 500.

For more information on Learn HealthSci Inc. visit: <http://www.learnhealthsci.com> or contact Dr. Phil Klein at info@learnhealthsci.com

For more information on ACTEON North America visit <http://www.us.acteongroup.com> or contact them at info@us.acteongroup.com

